

Michelle Robinson

Michelle Robinson has been serving students in the field of education for sixteen years, with thirteen of those years being in the department of exceptional learners. She is currently a resource teacher at Central Elementary School in MSD of Pike Township, where she holds various leadership positions including, RTI coordinator, PBIS co-chair, social media coordinator, student ambassador coach and founder and coach for the Central Jammers dance team. Michelle is an alumni of Valparaiso University and the University of Indianapolis where she has earned both her bachelor's degree and master's degree. Michelle continues to be a lifelong learner. She is currently attending Indiana University where she is pursuing her license to become a director of special education. She is also the mother of two beautiful children, Chelly and Shalon II.